In 1951, most of the kolkhozes, MTS, and sovkhoses finished preparations for spring agricultural work as scheduled. MTS of the Ministry of Agriculture fulfilled the plan for tractor repairs by 10 February, and MTS of the Ministry of Cotton Growing, by 10 March. However, a number of MTS, sovkhoses, and kolkhozes did not meet the plan for repair of tractors and seeders within the prescribed periods.

In 1951, spring agricultural work was begun later than in 1950. As of 20 April, kolkhozes had planted 19 percent less and sovkhoses 33 percent less spring crops than in the same period of 1950.

Preparations for harvesting of grain crops were more satisfactory in 1951 than in 1950. However, a number of kolkhozes and MTS were late in beginning repairs of agricultural machines and did not meet the repair plan within the prescribed period.
